

News from Mrs. P's class

Turkey Edition

- ❖ Happy Thanksgiving! This week, my 7th graders wrapped up a grammar unit on Capitalization and Punctuation and my 8th graders wrapped up a unit on Personal Narratives.
- ❖ Next week, my 7th graders will start a unit on persuasive writing while my 8th graders will start reading the novella “Flowers for Algernon.”
- ❖ In the spirit of Thanksgiving, I have reflected on what I'm thankful for . . .

TOP 10 LIST OF THINGS MRS. PETERSON IS THANKFUL FOR:

10. The Packers are tied for first place in the NFC North.
9. I haven't had to shovel my driveway this fall.
8. I have talented and entertaining colleagues.
7. I have a husband who never complains (even about my cooking).
6. I get to celebrate Thanksgiving tomorrow with my husband's grandparents who have been married for 67 years. No small feat.
5. I have nice parents, nice siblings, nice in-laws, and nice friends.
4. My children are healthy and happy.
3. My children are adorable.
2. My two dogs take turns making me crazy, so there is always one dog who is behaving at any given moment.
1. I have 125 respectful, hard-working, and energetic students who entertain me daily.

Have a wonderful weekend and thanks for all you do!
Jen Peterson
