Neenah Joint School District Proficiency Scale

Students receive ongoing feedback related to or connected to each learning target throughout the duration of the course. In addition, students' future readiness is measured in the areas of respect, responsibility and curiosity using the same grading metric as the academic grade.

For each learning target, students will receive feedback using a three-level scale. Proficient means that the student demonstrates and applies a comprehensive understanding of the learning target at that point in the school year. Developing means that the student demonstrates and/or applies a partial understanding of the learning target at that point in the school year. Beginning means that the student demonstrates minimal understanding of the learning target at that point in the school year.
